IMPORTANT EUROPEAN INTELLIGENCE.

LONDON, JUNE 17.

Official details of the victories of the French armies upon the Rhine and in Italy.

ARMY OF THE SAMBRE AND THE MEUSE.

Extract of a letter from Gen. Jourdan, commander in chief of the army of the Sambre and the Meuse, to the Executive Directory.

Head-Quarters at Raume, 16 Prairial, June 4.

"CITIZEN DIRECTORS,

"I had the honor to inform you, by my letter of the 4th current, that the enemy had broken the armistice, and that hostilities would re-commence on the 12th, (May 31) I have now to give you an account of the first movements of the army.

"On the 12th, the corps which was in the Hunsruck took a position, partly on the Nahe, and partly in the rear of Sohnerwald. General Marceau, who was encamped at Berkenfeld, attacked the enemy's advanced posts, which were on the right bank of the Nahe, and which might have obstructed our communications. He beat them in, and established his light troops in their situation. Gen. Poncet has proceeded to the Kirn, and carried all the posts. General Championet attacked the cantonment of Nidder-Ditbach, which the enemy ought not to have occupied, conformably to the conditions of the armistice: this cantonment was forced. The enemy encamped in considerable force, on several points, dispatched on the 13th, (June 1) some light troops to attack the advanced posts of Gen. Marceau, but they did not succeed in forcing them.

"The first operation of the division of the army destined to act on the right bank of the Rhine, under the command of general Kleber, has been most brilliant. This general set out on the 12th (May 31) on his March towards the Sieg; and on the following day (June 1) attacked the enemy and routed them completely. I enclose you his report, by which you will see, undoubtedly not without pleasure, that the excellent dispositions of this general were executed with zeal and dispatch by the generals under his command and with the utmost courage by the troops. You will also find enclosed a copy of his report of the 15th, (June 3) which will apprise you of his dispositions to force the enemy to abandon their position at Ukareth, and you will be pleased at seeing that he attained his aim by the dexterity of his manœuvres, and has by these means spared the blood of the defenders of the country. I am informed, that this general proceeded this day towards Altenkirchen, where the enemy, it would appear, mean to make a stand. I hope that he will have successes there equal to those on the Sieg. The movement of general Kleber has disquieted the enemy's army on the right bank of the Rhine. The camp of Baumholder, and all the troops which were on the Nahe, from its source to Kirn, retreated during last night.

(Signed) "JOURDAN."

Extract of a Letter from the Government Commissioners, stationed with the army of the Sambre and Meuse, to the Executive Directory.

"Head-Quarters at Hagenau.

"CITIZEN DIRECTORS,

"YOU are without doubt already informed of the important victory gained by the left wing of the army, commanded by the brave General Kleber, over the enemy's army, commanded by Wirtemberg and Kilmayer, and the brilliant manner in which the troops of the republic effected the crossing of the Sieg. This event explains the perplexity of the Austrians, and their embarrassment as to that part of the theatre of the war.

"This victory is the prelude of those which the brave armies of the Sambre and Meuse, and of the Rhine and Moselle, will obtain over these inveterate enemies of the Republic. Nothing can equal the ardour of our troops, and their confidence in the worthy chief, whose skilful dispositions daily prepare for them new triumphs.

(Signed) "JOUBERT."

To the National Representative Audoum.

Paris, 22d Prairial, (June 10) 4th Year.

"Scarcely my dear old colleague, had you quitted the house last night, when an extraordinary courier brought us the news of a signal victory obtained by the left wing of the army of the Sambre and Meuse, at Alterkirchen. We have taken 3000 men, 12 guns, and 4 flags. The victorious army continues its march.

"This day brings us advice of a new victory of the army of Italy, at Borghetto. The head-quarter of Beaulieu have been taken, with about 2000 men and immense magazines. Our troops have performed unheard of prodigies. We shall apprise the Legislative bodies of these events by a message this morning. I have to announce to you also, the ratification of our treaty with the King of Sardinia.

"You see, my dear, that Paris is the only point where our enemies are not subdued: but it is time that an end should be put to this, and the Republic triumph every where.

"I embrace you.

(Signed) "CARNOT."

BRUSSELS, (18 PRAIRIAL) JUNE 6.

Since hostilities re-commenced on the right bank, and the Austrians have been obliged to retreat, a flying bridge has been established opposite to Cologne, by the means of which an easy communication is opened with the right bank of the Rhine. Wounded Frenchmen and others are every moment brought into the hospitals of this town.

A requisition is to be made along the left bank of the Rhine from Cologne to Coblentz, for a great number of pioneers, destined to the works carrying on at the mouth of the Moselle, as well as on both sides of Coblentz.

HAGUE, MAY 28.

On the 25th instant, and the following days, the French troops marched into Amsterdam, and all remained quiet in that city. The sitting of the convention were very turbulent, on account of this march of the French troops, but all was in vain. General Bournonville has also demanded, that some French officer should be appointed governor of Amsterdam; but this demand has not yet been complied with.

Since we received intelligence of the Austrians having given notice of the armistice being at an end on the Rhine, all is in motion here to defend our frontiers, with the assistance of the French.

THE AFFAIRS OF ITALY.

MAY 18.

It was on the 11th instant, general Massena arrived at Milan at the head of the French van-guard, composed of 600 men. On the 12th the armorial bearing of his Imperial majesty were taken down, and the inhabitants hoisted the tri-colored cockade. From the 13th to the 16th, 12,000 French troops arrived in that place. General Massena has summoned the citadel of Milan, defended by 1600 men, and provided with ammunition and provisions; but received a refusal. Several French detachments have pushed forwards as far as Como, to levy contributions; and another corps has marched against Mantua, the garrison of which has been reinforced by several battalions of Austrian foot.

We understand that general Buonaparte has invited the inhabitants of the Milanese to form a republic, under French protection; and to contract an alliance with Genoa and Venice; but this report stands in need of confirmation. The French are said, on this arrival at Milan, to have imposed on that city a contribution of three millions and an half livres.

A letter from Italy, of the same date.

"A detachment of French troops has made its appearance before Modena. As soon as it was known that their corps marched against that town, Count Ragoni was sent to Salicetti, the French commissioner, to sue for peace; but received in answer, peace could not be concluded but at Paris or Basle. The duchy of Modena was constrained to pay a contribution of ten millions of livres, and to furnish provisions to the amount of four millions. A courier has been sent off to the Duke who is at Vienna, to acquaint him with the terms of peace proposed by the French.

A detachment of French horse appeared before Belogna, which belongs to the pope, reconnoitered the place: but it afterwards withdrew. The Cardinal Legate departed on the same day for Rome, leaving orders to surrender the town as soon as the French should make their appearance before the city.

Bologna, the largest and most considerable town in the Pope's dominions, is already occupied by the French, and their advanced posts spread as far Urbino, whether the pope has sent deputies, who are commissioned to remonstrate against his dominions being treated in an hostile manner, and to declare the pacific disposition of his holiness.

The French general Massena is now besieging the citadel of Milan with so much vigor, that in all likelihood it will soon be obliged to surrender.

The French are marching towards Rome.

The following is a list of the various magazines, stores, &c. which the Austrians left behind them at Pavia.

Effects left in the magazines of Pavia by the Austrians:

Wheat, 340 sacks; wheaten flour, 4260 quintals; rye, 4556 sacks; in flour ditto 1713 quintals; barley, 1730 bushels; forage, 900 quintals; oats, 17,215 bushels; straw, 200 quintals; straw beds, 17,552; Indian corn 28,780 bushels; flour of ditto 106 bushels; wollen cloth, 12,415 pieces; covers, 22,159; pillows, 2,192; mattrasses, 1042; fire-wood to light, 4,273; wool, 150lb. wood to burn, 15,880 measures; empty sacks, 15,470,

A great number of tons of shovels, pickaxes, kettles, and other utensils.

PARIS, JUNE 2.

The proclamation of Buonaparte, written in the stile of Hannibal, and in similar circumstances, announces to his soldiers his march to Rome; and we do not see at present any circumstances that can prevent his triumphal march. He is now in the dominions of the Pope, who can only oppose prayers to our triumphant armies.

ARMY OF ITALY.

Head-Quarters at Milan, 1st Prairial.

Buonaparte commander in chief of the army of Italy, to his brethren in arms.

"Soldiers, you have precipitated like a torrent from the heights of the Apenines; you have overthrown and dispersed all that dared to oppose your march.

"Piedmont, rescued from Austrian tyranny, is left to its natural sentiments of regard and friendship to the French.

Milan is yours, and the republican standard is displayed throughout all Lombardy, The Dukes of Parma and Modena are indebted for their political existence only to your generosity.

"The army which so proudly menaced you has had no other barrier than its dissolution to oppose to your invincible courage. The Po, the Tessen, the Adda, could not retard you a single day. These vaunted bulwarks of Italy were insufficient. You swept them with the same rapidity that you did the Appenines.

"These successes have carried joy into the bosom of your country. Your representatives decreed a festival dedicated to your victories, and to be celebrated throughout all the communes of the republic. Now your fathers, your mothers, your wives, your sisters, and your sweethearts will rejoice in your success, and take pride in their relation to you.

"Yes, soldiers, you have done much, but more still remains for you to do. Shall it be said of us, that we know how to conquer, but not to profit of our victories? Shall posterity reproach us with having found a Copua in Lombardy? But already I see you fly to arms—you are fatigued with an inactive repose—you lament the days that are lost to your glory! Well then let us proceed; we have other forced marches to make, more laurels to acquire, and more injuries to avenge. in so many ages of slavery. This shall be the fruit of your victories. It will be an epoch for the admiration of posterity—you will enjoy the immortal glory of changing the aspect of affairs in the finest part of Europe!

"The free people of France, no regardless of moderation, shall afford to Europe a glorious peace; but it will indemnify itself for the sacrifices of every kind which it has been making for six years past. You shall again be restored to your fire sides and homes, and your fellow citizens, pointing you out, shall say, "There goes one who belonged to the army of Italy!!!"

FROM FRANCE.

The ſchooner Diſpatch, arrived at New York from Bourdeaux, brings Paris papers to the 20th of June. The Auſtrian account of an action on the Rhine, which follows, is among the moſt material of the Intelligence by this veſſel.

FROM THE GAZETTE FRANCAISE, OF JUNE 13 AND 16.

Tranſlated for the Daily Advertiſer.

Extract of a Letter from the Head-Quarters of the Archduke Charles, at Mayence, the 6th of June.

"The battles which were fought yeſterday and the day before, in the environs of Lanterick, a ſtrong town about eight leagues from Deux-Pont, will form an epoch in the annals of warfare, on account of the bravery and obſtinacy diſplayed by our troops.

"General Jourdan attacked us upon our centre with a boldneſs which ſeemed to aſſure him victory. Our troops repulſed him twice with conſiderable loſs; he returned a third time to the charge and with ſuch impetuoſity, that our troops, in ſpite of their firm reſiſtance, were obliged to retreat; this they effected with good order to Oppenheim, Winweiler and Mayence, in order to preſerve a communication with Field-Marſhal count Wurmſer.

"We learn at this moment, that the centre of his army has been attacked by three ſtrong columns of the enemy, who have marched from the valley's of Ruperſweiler and Anweiler, commanded by general Moreau in perſon; but as the principal poſition of Kaiſerſlautern, eight leagues from Worms, defended by the brave General Merzaros, appears impregnable we believe they will not there have the ſame ſucceſs.

"The number of priſoners and wounded which arrive here, prove that in the affairs of the 4th and 5th, the loſs has been conſiderable on both ſides. By the firſt opportunity you ſhall have the details.

"The French, not content with having made themſelves maſters of Lautern, Meiſſenheim, Creutznach, Gommerſheim and Simmeren, a ſtrong city upon the Hundſruck, about five leagues from Ehrenbreitſtein, and the ſurrounding poſitions, have advanced by a forced march, and give out that they will again ſurround our city."

Bonnarde, General of Diviſion, to the General of Brigade, Daviſnot, at Cologne.

Head-Quarters at Linz, 17 Prairial, 4th year of the Republic.

"I haſten to acquaint you, my dear comrade, with the contents of a letter which I have this moment received from the etat-major of General Kleber, that in the engagement of yeſterday the heights of Aldenkirken were turned with ſuch rapidity, that all the artillery which defended them were taken, together with a battalion of Jordes 1500 ſtrong, as alſo its colours, the colonel, and many other priſoners, and that the rout of the enemy was unexampled. We know very well that our brave army will in its turn gain as brilliant victories as thoſe of Italy.

Vive la Republique.

BONNARDE."

PARIS, 29 PRAIRIAL, JUNE 8.

It is generally reported in the Council of 500 that a courier is arrived, who, in the name of the Emperor, requeſts an ARMISTICE, and propoſes, that ſeveral important places, ſuch as MENTZ ſhall be held as pledges during the negociations.

It is further added, that the principal difficulties were obviated this night, and that the PRELIMINARY of PEACE is ſigned between the directory and the Envoys of the Cabinet of Vienna, at Paris.

JUNE 20.

The council of 500 waited yeſterday for the Meſſage from the Directory, which was expected would have announced peace with the Emperor. The meſſage did not come; but this expectation was not without cauſe. Every thing induces us to believe, that we ſhall not long be miſtaken.

DOMESTIC INTELLIGENCE.

SUSPENSION OF HOSTILITIES.

FROM THE AURORA.

There is a letter in town (we ſpeak poſitively) dated Bourdeaux late in June, and from a perſon of reſpectability, which ſays, that an extraordinary courier had juſt arrived there with intelligence of a ceſſation of hoſtilities on the Rhine. The letter further ſtates, as the news brought by that courier, that the Auſtrians had been repeatedly beaten, had loſt much ground, and had given up ſeveral poſts with little more than the reſemblance of reſiſtance; that finally the truce was agreed to and the Auſtrians had given up Mentz as a pledge of their ſincere deſire for peace. The reſpectability of our channel of information, and the ſituation of affairs on the Rhine at the date of our laſt printed accounts make us place credit in this news.

Since writing the above we have been favored with the extract of the letter alluded to, a tranſlation follows;

Bourdeaux, June 13.

"Extraordinary couriers inform us this moment, that the preliminaries of peace with the Emperor are ſigned. He has given up the fortreſs of Mayence as a pledge of his ſincerity and readineſs to accede to the conditions that France ſhall pleaſe to dictate to him. Indeed this is in no manner ſurprizing; becauſe his troops refuſed to fight and chooſe rather to ſurrender priſoners of war, as has been the caſe in ſeveral late engagements on the Rhine where we have gained the moſt ſignal victories and made a number of priſoners."

FROM A NORFOLK PAPER OF AUGUST 15.

On Friday night laſt, about twelve o'clock, the ſloop Harriot, Ct. Weeks, bound from Richmond to Philadelphia, was run foul of by the Thetis frigate off the Capes; they had only time to ſave the crew and rigging when ſhe went down.

This morning arrived the ſchooner Swallow, capt. Moore, 11 days from the Mole. The captain informs that two French Frigates have been captured off St. Domingo, by a ſhip of the line, and another veſſel, and ſent to Jamaica.

Extract of a letter received by a gentleman in this Town, from his friend in Nantz, dated 14th of June, 1796.

"I ARRIVED here the 12th, and found markets ſo very low, that actual ruin is the conſequence of ſhipments to this place. I truſt that you have not effected any, nor any of your friends. —This ſudden decline takes its riſe from the war of La Vendee being ended. The proviſions of a vaſt extent of country pour into the towns, and renders every neceſſary of life lower in value than at any former period. I am poſitive I ſhould not be able to ſell here for ſix dollars. In fact there is no offer will be made. The expected crop is ſaid to be abundantly promiſing, and there is ſmall hope of flour enhancing much before it comes in."

Extaact of a Letter from Liſbon, dated June 8.

"We now congratulate with you on the ſtep this court has taken (which it is a pity it had not done long ago), which is, to make this a free port; ſo that from the firſt of January next, all veſſels with grain, or indeed any other cargo, may come in and go out without any embarraſſment, and if neceſſary depoſit their cargo, (every thing but tobacco and ſugar) which can be re-ſhipped at any time on payment of one per cent. on amount of the invoice."

The French Legiſlature decreed for the 10th of May, a kind of Te Deum for the national victories, and that this fete ſhould be celebrated with an exhibition of a battle: but they were obliged to change their plan, the French ſoldiers refuſing to act the reſemblance of a retreat!

The Bermudians (ſays a Boſton paper) are actually quitting the buſineſs of privateering, which they have ſo infamouſly proſecuted to the detriment of our commerce for a long period. Moſt of their privateers are already hauled up, and they diſmantle every one as it arrives. The reaſon of this ſudden change of conduct, is the panic with which they are ſtruck by the news of the reverſal of ſome of their vice-admiralty decrees. Reports were current, that writs of attachment had arrived, and were about being executed upon the property of ſome of the principal privateer's-men.

By an arrival from Rochefort at Salem, we learn that Capt Barney late of Baltimore, has the command of a ſquadron of frigates, 8 in number, that were to ſail in a few days from that port on a ſecret expedition, and were to be joined by 3 more from an adjacent port. It was conjectured the Weſt-Indies was their deſtination. Capt. Barney has often declared his anxious deſire of viſiting that "ſeat of infamy," Bermuda—and it may not be a falſe prophecy to predict the long-wiſhed for deſtruction of this place by the above ſquadron—as Capt. B. has a few arrearages to pay to ſome of the inhabitants of this Iſland.

We learn from a letter received by a gentleman in this town from Capt Francois, dated July 27th, that Captain Barney, with one frigate, had put in there a few days before.

The land is within five miles of ſeveral merchant mills, twenty eight miles from Frederickſburg, ſixty from Alexandria, and the ſame diſtance from George-Town and the Federal City, near two public roads leading to the back country.

Alſo, 10,000 acres of valuable Kentuckey land. 2000 acres of which is military, 1000 acres on Cumberland River, 1000 at the junction of the Tenneſſee and Ohio rivers, and 8000 on the South Fork of Kentuckey river, which was located early in the year 1783.

As the Superviſor has been ſo full in his obſervations and explanations on that ſubject, there needs no comments of mine. I ſhall only add, that ſtrict and punctual compliance with the law will be expected, as all penalties and forfeitures incurred in future, will moſt certainly be inflicted without reſpect to perſons.

POTOMACK:
MILL, MILL-SEATS and LANDS,
FOR SALE.

A valuable Merchant-Mill and SawMill, a never failing ſtream of water; with a Miller's Houſe, Cooper's Houſe, and Cooper's Shop, with or without about Eleven Hundred Acres of Valuable Land, ſituate, part in Loudoun and part in Fairfax County. The land is of good quality and uncommonly well watered, having three ſtreams running through it, any of which are ſufficient to turn two water wheels: and has three ſeats for the erecting of Mills, one of them in particular will not require a dam of much more than 50 feet and the Mill can be placed immediately upon the road from Leeſburg to Alexandria. The improvements are, a good dwelling-Houſe, and three other good Farm Houſes.—One half of the land is yet in remarkably fine timber, which will make the Saw-Mill extremely valuable; and that which is cleared is under good fence. The Mill is diſtant from the Great Falls of Potomack, where extenſive improvements are making, about three miles; from the Little Falls, where a bridge is now erected, acroſs the Potomack River, about 8 miles, and from thence to the Federal City about 3 miles; and from Alexandria about 19 miles.——The whole will be ſold together or any part thereof will be ſold ſeparate, ſo as to ſuit purchaſers. Immediate poſſeſſion can be had; and a liberal credit will be given for the purchaſe money.

The quality of the Land, I am informed, is nearly equal to that on the ſouth branch of the Potomack, and it has the advantage of a Griſt-Mill within half a mile, and Limeſtone and Pit-Coal at a ſhort diſtance.

Alſo, ſeveral Tracts of Land, of about 400 acres each, in Hampſhire County, the quality of which I am unacquainted with
